

Huntington's Disease Services

Huntington's disease is an inherited disorder that results in motor and cognitive symptoms that are progressive over time. At UCI Health, we specialize in the expert assessment, diagnosis and intervention in Huntington's disease. Our team of fellowship-trained physicians and clinical staff are here to care for you and your family throughout all stages of Huntington's disease.

To schedule an appointment, or to learn about our genetic testing options, please call Olivia Zack, RN, nurse navigator at 949-824-2362.

Our Team

Our movement disorder neurology team consists of fellowship-trained specialists that are committed to providing compassionate, evidence-based care.
